DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-99, 108, and 109, drawn to an apparatus for effecting relative movement of first and second parts, classified in class 74, subclass 567.
- II. Claims 100-107, drawn to an apparatus for effecting relative movement in combination with a friction clutch, classified in class 192, subclass 101.
- III. Claim 110, drawn to a machine element for continuously maintaining two machine parts in spaced-apart positions, classified in class 74, subclass 1R.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination, respectively. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because numerous details in subcombination claims 2-99 are not required in the claims to the combination. The subcombination has separate utility such as for effecting movement between parts that are not in a friction clutch.

Art Unit: 3681

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as for effecting movement between parts that come in contact with one another. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination claims do not call for a machine element for maintaining the spacing of two parts. The subcombination has separate utility such as in a machine other than a friction clutch.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3681

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species of Invention I:

Fig. 1;
Fig. 2;
Fig. 3;
Fig. 6;
Fig. 8;
Fig. 9;
Fig. 12;
Fig. 24; and,
Fig. 26.

Species of Invention II:

Fig. 13;
Fig. 14;
Fig. 15;
Fig. 16;
Fig. 19;
Fig. 20;
Fig. 21;
Fig. 22; and,
Fig. 23.

If Invention I or II are elected, Applicant is also required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species corresponding to the elected invention for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, none of the claims are believed to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
